

LAOS DRIVE APPEARS TO CRUMBLE

WASHINGTON DENIES ROUT

As Smoke Of Battle Clears A Disaster Emerges

WASHINGTON (CP) — Despite official U.S. denials of a rout in Laos, there was increasing speculation here today over whether the South Vietnamese operation there will continue much longer in the face of heavy Communist pressure.

White House spokesman Ronald Ziegler Wednesday night brushed aside newspaper headlines of a rout of Firebase Lolo, saying official reports reaching Washington showed that Saigon's troops were continuing to disrupt Communist supply movements and were carrying out their objectives.

The Pentagon earlier used the term "mobile maneuvering" in describing what happened around Firebase Lolo, saying it was a planned movement by the 1,600-man force and not a retreat.

President Nixon at his last news conference accused the American press of taking an unduly pessimistic line about the Laos operation, but the latest reports from field correspondents continue to point up an apparent large gap between official and press assessments of the five-week-old operation in Laos, observers said.

The South Vietnamese are reported to have lost about 900 men killed in the Laotian operation so far, including some of their best troops—marines and rangers.

One question being asked here was whether such losses, if continued, would seriously deplete the South Vietnamese capability to defend their own country in the months ahead.

The Associated Press said the Pentagon indicated that the scope of the South Vietnamese operation in Laos was limited because President Nguyen Van Thieu was unwilling to risk annihilation of his troops by the North Vietnamese.

These sources say the operation plan called for the South Vietnamese to go no further than Sepone, about 25 miles west of the border, if the North Vietnamese opposed the drive in force.

Salgon reported heavy North Vietnamese attacks drove South Vietnamese troops in Laos back toward their own border today with soaring losses. At least 110 Saigon troops were reported killed Thursday and 205 wounded.

A GARDEN OR NOT—THAT'S THE QUESTION

To be a garden spot or not; that is the question and a great many Kelowna people have protested against proposals to change the city park vista. Those opposing change have said, among other things that the park entrance shown above, should lead to a haven of peace amid the hurly-burly of life outside. A story on page 3 reports on a committee which has been formed to air the objections. (Courier photo)

Okanagan Residents Told Take Action On Problems

When discussing regional problems, residents should consider the entire Okanagan as one geographical region from Vernon to Osoyoos, more than 130 Kelowna residents were told Wednesday.

W. C. Yeomans, Victoria landscape architect, warned his audience to become aware of the region's problems, become concerned about them and form action committees to begin to rectify them.

Speaking at a Kelowna advisory planning commission-sponsored forum on regionalism versus boosterism, Mr. Yeomans said the problems will not be solved unless people begin to get together to work on them.

"Individuals cannot do it alone," he said. "It must be a community effort. The key is citizen participation."

These problems include overcrowding in residential areas, the lack of adequate park facilities, overcrowding schools (especially in the Central Okanagan), pollution, and highway access.

"These problems are happening everywhere, not just here," he said.

"Pollution and these other problems are just symptomatic — man is the disease."

He added man has the tools and technology to change the environment, but as yet, "he has been unable to put them to an orderly use."

Man is losing his environment, which is deteriorating at a rapid rate, and steps must be taken now to correct this, he said. "Pollution will always be a factor, but we must ensure the pollution doesn't grow faster than other concerns."

The formation of a valley action group would be one way of solving the problem, he said. "The Okanagan is a great place to live, but there is a limited supply of water, air and land that can service the population."

"We must classify the different lands we have for their uses, and agricultural lands must be kept as such to retain as much open space as possible."

Turning his attention to provincial parks, Mr. Yeomans said as far as he was concerned, "there are no provincial parks in B.C."

A park, he said, is an area preserving life in a passive quality, adding this includes way-side tables, rest areas, trails and camper parks where tourists can pull off the road and relax.

"There are places in the United States where tourists can relax at roadside parks."

"Tourism is the province's second largest industry, and unless we develop such facilities, we could face some stiff competition from the Pacific Northwest (U.S.)."

Fielding questions from the floor, he said the Okanagan can be promoted as an area where fun and play are the bywords, but that promotional material "can be informative" depending on the area's objectives.

Britain's Anti-Strike Ruling Results In Crippling Protest

LONDON (AP) — A widespread protest against the government's anti-strike legislation crippled British industry today, blacked out newspapers and threatened disruption of public transport.

Leaders of the one-day stoppage, the second major mass walkout this month, claimed more than two million men were out, either on strike or laid off for the day from closed plants. Estimates of production losses ran into millions of pounds.

Hundreds of engineering plants, among them the British Leyland and General Motors automotive giants, closed at midnight Wednesday. Shipyards and docks were idle, too.

The strike was called by Britain's largest union, the 1,400,000-member Amalgamated Engineering Workers, in a campaign against the government's Industrial Relations Bill.

Britain's second union, the Transport and General Workers, with more than one million membership, told members to decide individually whether to join the strike or not.

As the strike hit home, leaders of the Trades Union Congress, representing more than nine million organized workers, debated critical decisions which could bring even greater disruption.

The TUC is traditionally against political strikes. But with the two largest unions taking a militant stand, it was possible that enough votes could be mustered to call a national stoppage.

Roth Spoke 'Out Of Turn'

Kelowna Mayor Hilbert Roth should not have spoken for the Regional District of Central Okanagan in asking a meeting with provincial officials about entrances and exits from Highway 97 to the new Orchard Park shopping centre, regional chairman W. C. Bennett said Wednesday night.

The centre is being developed about four miles from the city limits. A city woman and her unborn child were killed, and two other people hurt, in an accident near the centre early this month.

Mayor Roth wrote Premier W. A. C. Bennett stating the premier had offered to arrange a meeting between the provincial highways department, the city and the region to discuss the matter. The premier replied he had not, but has referred the matter to highways minister Wesley Black.

Mr. Black said he would be glad to arrange such a meeting, but no date has been suggested.

'Harsh Facts' About Skagit

VICTORIA (CP) — If Seattle City Light is not allowed to flood the Skagit Valley British Columbia, the city of Seattle, $8 million, the legislature, was told Wednesday.

Ray Williston, minister of lands, forests and water resources, said this is one of the harsh facts which should be pointed out to those opposed to flooding of the valley about 20 miles south of Hope.

Under an agreement with B.C. Seattle City Light proposes to raise the Ross dam 122 feet, thereby flooding 3,230 acres in Washington's Whatcom county and B.C.

The controversy over the flooding returned to the legislature as several members urged the Social Credit government to take a second look at the proposal.

Alex Macdonald (NDP—Vancouver East) said it is time to "take the gloves off and make a fight of it."

Mr. Williston picked up on this and said it was a "good idea to take the gloves off" but this would mean the opposition members would have to accept certain facts.

One was, he said, that Seattle has already put $8 million into the foundations for the new dam and this would have to be paid back.

Also, he said, the valley now is nothing more than a "sea of stumps" and if there was no flooding, a great deal of money would have to be spent to clean it up.

"And you would still not have a recreational area," he said. Thirdly, Mr. Williston said, B.C. would have to accept responsibility for certain roads which have been built into the area.

He said these facts had not been pointed out to environmentalists and conservationists opposed to the flooding, and members had a responsibility to do this.

'Static' Deprives Bob Hope Of Church Council Award

NEW YORK (AP) — Pressure from a group of activist young clergymen has forced the New York City Council to cancel plans to present its 1971 Family of Man Award to comedian Bob Hope.

"There is nothing in Mr. Hope's record of public commitment to the three pressing issues that confront the council—poverty, racial justice and peace," said Rev. Richard Neuhaus, leader of the group.

"On the contrary," he told a tumultuous meeting of the council's general assembly Monday night. "Mr. Hope has uncritically supported the military establishment."

The assembly directed instead that the award be presented posthumously to Whitney Young Jr., the executive director of the National Urban League who died last Thursday in Lagos, Nigeria.

Mr. Neuhaus, a Brooklyn Lutheran pastor and vocal opponent of the Vietnam war, said his group also objected to what he termed Hope's "unconscious mocking of those in society who are deeply committed to social justice" such as draft resisters and hippies.

The council's board of directors had selected Hope for the award at a meeting in February, and Hope agreed to accept it a week ago, a council spokesman said.

No public announcement of the choice was made but at Monday night's meeting the group of about 20 dissidents interrupted the agenda and insisted on a discussion of the choice.

"There was a long debate, and it finally was decided that even with all the embarrassment it might cause, the choice should be withdrawn," said the council's executive director, Dr. Dan Potter.

Tuesday night Dr. Potter said he had sent a telegram to Hope saying that the sole reason the assembly rescinded the directors' offer was to present the award instead to Young.

Kelowna District Teachers Join Walkout Set For Friday

The 516 teachers employed in School District 23 (Kelowna) will join in a one-day province-wide strike Friday protesting their colleagues in retirement are getting a raw deal on pensions.

School trustees in Kelowna said they deplored the teachers' actions as it affects the "loss of school time" to students. They made their comment at noon today after a special meeting.

They added although there will be no classes through the day, the schools will be open at normal times "for any teacher reporting for regular school duty."

Teachers who do not report for duty will not be paid. All other non-teaching school staff will be on duty.

The illegal strike will be the first province-wide teachers' strike in Canada. The teachers' walkout in Quebec and Newfoundland earlier this year affected only specific regions, not the entire province.

In Quebec, teachers walked off their jobs in Quebec City and Montreal over job classification. In Newfoundland, it was in St. John's—over pay.

Teacher strikes in British Columbia are prohibited by the Public Schools Act. Representatives of the Kelowna Teachers' Federation and the school board were meeting today to discuss the issue, which teachers say involves only the provincial government. Local school boards are not involved in the issue, they add.

In a statement Thursday, British Columbia Teachers' Federation (BCTF) said the province's schools would be closed in a one-day strike called by the 22,000-member federation.

Purpose of the walkout, the first in the association's 55-year history, is to focus public attention on the retired teachers, who receive an average $2,250 annual pension.

In announcing an executive decision to call the work stoppage, BCTF president James Killeen said in Vancouver Thursday: "We feel the one-day protest is adequate for the present."

Kelowna teachers are to attend a rally at 2 p.m. Friday in the Community Theatre.

Thomas Hutchinson, pension chairman, British Columbia Teachers' Federation, will speak on the plight of the now-retired teachers.

The forum is open to the public. Federation members voted last fall to take strike action if necessary to back demands for improved pensions from the government-controlled $177 million fund they have built up.

In Victoria, there was no official government comment on the strike call and the long weekend it will give students.

Confrontation In E. Pakistan Leads To New Fears Of Split

DACCA (Reuter) — The confrontation between Sheikh Mujibur Rahman, leader of East Pakistan, and President Yahya Khan worsened today amid renewed fears of an impending split of the nation into two states.

Sheikh Mujib rejected an offer by Yahya Khan of a commission of inquiry into charges of unprovoked killing of civilians by the army during a civil disobedience campaign and strike last week.

"The people of the Bengal nation (East Pakistan) shall not co-operate with such a commission," he said.

Sheikh Mujib had demanded a commission of inquiry as one of four conditions for his attendance in the National Assembly aimed at returning Pakistan to democracy.

But Gen. Yahya Khan gave the proposed commission terms of reference which Sheikh Mujib regarded as too restrictive establishing it under martial law with a requirement that it should report to a martial law authority.

Better Job On B.C. Forests Urged

The British Columbia government was urged Wednesday to do a better job of managing its forest industry in terms of reforestation and marketing. Revenue Department To Hire Many University Students

MONTREAL (CP) — The national revenue department will hire a substantial number of university students to work in customs this summer under the federal government's new summer employment program.

Revenue Minister Herb Gray said Wednesday that it would be a "substantial increase, probably close to 700 students in all."

Last summer, the permanent customs employees at Montreal International Airport staged a three-day work slowdown to protest the hiring of summer students.

The men, members of the Public Service Alliance, charged that students were being put in responsible jobs and categories that would normally take 10 to 12 years of service to achieve.

At the time, the students were performing duties similar to those of senior customs officials

Indira Names Cabinet Of 13 And Brings In Some New Faces

NEW DELHI (Reuter) — All five new ministers were newly elected to the legislature in the election.

Mrs. Gandhi also appointed 15 ministers of state and eight deputy ministers, most of them members of her last government.

Mrs. Gandhi added the portfolio of information and broadcasting to her present charges of home affairs, planning and atomic energy.

A spokesman for the prime minister's office said the new ministry was likely to be expanded during or at the end of the full budget session of Parliament in May.

The prime minister, who has a powerful two-thirds majority in the 521 seat lower house of Parliament following elections earlier this month, dropped five veteran ministers from her team.

They were Dinesh Singh, formerly industrial development; K. Raghuramiah, parliamentary affairs and shipping; Gulzari Lal Nanda, railways; V. K. R. V. Rao, education; Triguna Sen, petroleum and chemicals; and D. Sanjivaya, labor.

Yeshwantarao Chavan remains as finance minister and Fakhruddin Ali Ahmed as food minister.

The five new faces in the cabinet are: Mohan Kumaramangalam, steel and heavy engineering; Moynul Haq Chaudhuri, industrial development; H. R. Gokhale, law and justice; Sidhartha Shankar Ray, education; and Raj Bahadur, parliamentary affairs.

Kumaramangalam is a leading lawyer and was chairman of Indian Airlines. Bahadur resigned as ambassador to Nepal to run in the election and Ray is the Congress party leader in West Bengal state.

Construction In Parks Opposed

CITY PAGE

Residents Organize Opposition May Not Have Chance To Vote

'SITTING' ON VALUABLE LAND WHAT IS CITY GOING TO DO

Two city aldermen want council to decide soon what it is going to do with land near the Kelowna Bridge purchased some years ago from a former alderman.

The city bought three lots and a house from A. R. Polard, and the house was rented at $175 a month until last August, when it was vacated because the city wished to use it as park land.

Ald. S. A. Hodge points out the property, worth about $60,000, is south of the bridge, and not zoned for park use.

"We should either sell it or rezone it as parkland," he said today. "But, if we rezone it, other people would want to buy their properties. We haven't enough money to buy all the land."

He and Ald. Alan Moss presented a motion last Monday night to have the city assessor establish a fair and reasonable price for the property, minus 100 feet of shore land. The matter was tabled until city officials provide more information.

A committee has been formed to keep a community complex out of City Park.

At a meeting recently, it was decided to fight a proposal by the city to erect a recreation building and senior citizens' building in the park.

The committee plans to circulate petitions urging construction of the project elsewhere, and possibly to hold a public meeting. Members will be at supermarkets on Saturday with petitions, also postcards which may be signed and returned to city hall opposing the project.

The committee says it feels its prime responsibility is to preserve the park as a sanctuary of lawns, trees and gardens, "a park of sufficient size that citizens and visitors can escape the hustle and bustle of downtown."

Earlier studies recommended the complex be north along the waterfront, related to the theatre and other buildings. Members feel that, if it is built there, waterfront improvement will be encouraged.

At the meeting it was pointed out the building would occupy about half an acre, while about three acres would be needed for parking and access roads. According to city planning consultants, replanning the park to accommodate the complex would add about 2½ acres to the park.

But the objectors point out building it elsewhere would save more than five acres of parkland.

was obtained by March 31.

It would be impossible to meet this deadline, but legislation apparently is being considered by the legislature enabling the city to borrow the money without the consent of ratepayers.

At the council meeting last Monday night, Ald. Alan Moss, building committee chairman, said a "massive amount of misinformation" has been circulating about the complex.

He made this comment when representatives of several groups objected to a building for senior citizens being located in the park.

The representatives asked council to consider making the present federal building, at Bernard and Ellis Street, a centre for senior citizens.

Part of the building will become empty next month when the post office and other departments move to the new federal building. The rest will be vacant when the new building is finished later on.

Council is negotiating with the federal department of public works to buy the building.

Mayor Hilbert Roth and other members said the building might be used for senior citizens, but only until permanent quarters are provided.

Council urged the groups to wait until final plans are presented for the complex.

The actual cost has been estimated at $1 million. The balance would come from insurance on the Aquatic building, destroyed by fire in 1969.

If a federal-provincial loan is granted, work must start by Oct. 1, and be substantially finished by June, 1972.

Region Backs Protestors In War Against Marina

A blow for foreshore preservation was struck by the Regional District of Central Okanagan at its regular meeting Wednesday.

Faced with a delegation of three Lakeview Heights residents opposing development of a proposed yacht club and marina in Kalamoor Park, the board wound up an hour-long debate by supporting the petitioners against the Kalamoor Parks Board, who want to lease a 330 by 550-foot piece of lakeshore in the park for development by Casa Loma Marina Ltd.

Explaining the regional district's involvement in the issue, regional planner, William Hardcastle, said the parks board had applied to the provincial government for a lakeshore lease on the west side of Okanagan Lake in the park, and the department of lands and forests had asked the board for its "observations" on the proposal.

He added a similar query had been received by the board from the Department of Transport pertaining to any regional district objections to the scheme.

Delegation spokesman Clive Gilbert, in a prepared statement of objections to the proposal, listed 11 reasons against the scheme which would include development of a marina, changing shed and rest room, and car park "in the initial stages."

The objections included that no new commercial developments be allowed in public parks; pollution, ecological destruction and lack of conservation of land in provincial parks should be halted; the proposed lease would affect one-sixth of the total foreshore in the park.

NOT ENOUGH BEACH

Also the public beach area on the west side of Okanagan Lake in this area is a very small portion of the total foreshore, and the population is increasing rapidly and all existing public foreshore area "will be insufficient to satisfy the needs of the public within the next few years," and "we cannot afford to lose any more of the foreshore to private enterprise."

Continuing his resume of objections, Mr. Gilbert said an access road had to be built to the proposed development which would "scar" the naturally beautiful landscape of the park and disturb the natural flora.

Other objections cited included the development of car parking facilities for the marina would use up more of the park; Casa Loma Marina has already indicated they propose to develop a clubhouse in the future, thus enlarging the sphere of "commercialism" in the park; oil from power boats caused pollution to water and beaches, and power boats should not be moored adjacent to public beaches; the proposed lease "gives no provision" for income to be used for public development in the rest of the park; the development would find it extremely expensive to lease the same amount of comparable, private, foreshore property; and another marina has been projected in this area, adding "this marina is not on public land and is not adjacent to a public beach area."

DESTRUCTION

The petition added ecological destruction would take place with construction of a road to this particular marina, and cars would be parked on public land to serve it.

Admitted residents had "little time to prepare," this short time, the petition concluded "we propose to make a further deposition to the lands officer, Department of Land, Forests and Water Resources in Victoria in the near future, and request that a delay be made on any decision on this matter for the time being."

Mr. Gilbert said a private meeting of Lakeview Heights residents held March 10 attended by 15 people, had approved circulation of a petition opposing the marina proposal. He told the meeting he anticipated "a lot of support" from Lakeview Heights residents as well as Kelowna or "anybody concerned with commercial development in public parks."

"Public parks belong to the citizens of British Columbia," he added.

Defending the scheme, Lyman Dooley, chairman of the Kalamoor Parks Board, who happened to be attending the regional meeting as an alternate director for Lakeview Heights representative D. A. Pritchard, told the other side of the story.

OPPOSITION DEFEATED

He said opposition against the marina had been defeated 12 to 20 at a meeting of the Lakeview Irrigation District March 8. The irrigation district acts as administrator to the park.

Mr. Dooley said only a small area of the park's beach was "practical" for public use, and described as a "good deal" maintenance of 400 feet of the beach at "no cost to the public."

He added the marina would be developed on created land, adding there would be a 500-foot buffer between it and Casa Loma.

"We don't consider it infringing on rights," he told the meeting, admitting the pressure for beach use was "fantastic."

Larry Jensen, one of the petitioning delegates, said there had been "no mention" of the marina development at the irrigation district meeting, adding for 400 feet.

This was later confirmed by Mr. Gilbert who said signing of the lease for the proposal had "only been hinted at" at the meeting. Third member of the delegation was Mrs. Gordon Montgomery.

Discussion terminated with a motion by M. C. Jennings the land be left for public use, with an amendment by Ald. W. J. "We use the proposal would seriously hamper or hinder" full public use of the beach.

GO FLY A KITE

This is the time of the year when the expression "fly a kite" becomes popular. The scene above exemplifies the statement as these two boys fly their kite somewhere on one of the city's "green areas." From now until summer, kite flying will probably be a common occurrence as boys practice their techniques. —(Courier photo).

Region Wondering At Garbage Costs

There must be more to operating a garbage dump than meets the nose, and the Regional District of Central Okanagan wants to know what.

Sent a bill by the city for $32,461 as its cost of sharing Kelowna's sanitary landfill facilities in 1970, the board approved a motion at its regular meeting Wednesday to ask city fathers for a cost breakdown of the billing, although sanctioning another motion to pay some $24,000 of the stated sum (the board has already paid $8,000).

In addition, members also approved a motion they enter into a "reasonable agreement" with the city on refuse disposal or look for its own dumping site.

The motion came from Westbank director Andrew Duncan, who earlier suggested such a safeguard would provide an alternative solution should city workmen go on strike. He added if such did occur, there was "no guarantee we can use the city dump."

The most contentious part of the city's garbage tab to the board was an operating cost increase from $38,114 in 1969 to $75,473 in 1970, representing almost a 100 per cent hike in the regional district billing.

"When costs get way out of whack we have to investigate," said Mel Marshall, Rutland director. He supported Mr. Duncan's view the board should "look for another dump" suggesting a single landfill operation for both region and city.

Chairman W. C. Bennett suggested a committee of the board approach the city regarding establishment of a regional dump, a view which found favor with Mr. Duncan. "We favor with Mr. Duncan," he added, "the fact that only 'out of pocket' maintenance and operating costs of $11,246 for city equipment was charged, as well as outside equipment rental charges of $1,400."

The city's billing from director of finance H. K. Hall, added the 1970 charges of $34,500 covered operation, maintenance and depreciation.

The letter added almost all of the cost was attributable to two units of equipment, a dragline and caterpillar tractor. Rental rates charged and comparative Department of Highways approved rental rates were listed as $9 and $7 respectively for each unit on the basis of city rates, and $11.25 and $8.10 on department of highways rates.

In addition, substantially more road construction within the landfill area was necessary in 1970 to the tune of $7,950. Added costs covering department supervision and administration based on 10 per cent of all direct costs amounted to $68,612, with administration levies totaling $6,861.

The previous year, the board paid, $15,958 for the privilege of sharing the city's landfill operation.

Rutland Sewage Plant 'Gifts' Still Under Study By Board

A free gift of two sewage treatment plants to the Regional District of Central Okanagan will be studied more by that governing body.

The board decided Wednesday to "investigate all aspects" of the Rutland situated plants following endorsement by Rutland director Mel Marshall.

The offer was made to the board by Okanagan Builders Land Development, which involves donating over the plants "free of charge" providing the company continues to operate them on the board's behalf until the operating procedure is changed.

In addition, the board is in line for $20,000 to $25,000 when it takes over operation of the plants, a prospect described by Mr. Marshall at a February 3 meeting as a "pretty attractive deal."

He was instructed by the board at that time to query residents for their opinions on the board's take-over of the plants, and bring back a report.

A subsequent poll taken by the board's advisory committee, headed by Mr. Marshall, indicated residents in the area served by one of the plants in Hollywood Dell were in favor of the proposal.

Reiterating his previous stand, Mr. Marshall said the offer "appears to be a good deal for Rutland." He was asked by Andrew Duncan, Westbank director if there was no guarantee the operation would be maintained should the board decide not to accept the offer, and replied he "wouldn't say" there was no guarantee.

He described the offer as a good business opportunity for the board.

Treading more softly, James

Stuart, East Kelowna director, said he would like regional administrator A. T. Harrison, to "calculate the cost of the operation" in "all fairness to the taxpayer."

He said the proposal "should be researched properly" and was reminded by chairman W. C. Bennett that this was the recommendation behind Mr. Marshall's report.

Caution was also advocated by city representative Ald. W. J. C. Kane, who suggested the plants be appraised by a professional engineer to determine their condition. He also proposed a letter be sent to the pollution control board "so we know there are no surprises in store."

Most Roads Are Bare

Following is the road report to 8:30 a.m. today from the highways department:

Fraser Canyon, bare, good, watch for rock on road. Kamloops to Revelstoke, bare, good, watch for rock on road. Rogers Pass, 80 per cent bare, slippery sections sanded. Allison Pass, 90 per cent bare, watch for rock on road. Princeton to Penticton, bare and good.

Highway 97, bare, good. Highway 23, bare, good. Monashee Pass, bare, good.

BREAK-IN

Police are investigating a break-in at the home of C. W. Randall on Tisdale Road in Rutland. It was reported early this morning.

EMO To Help With Planning Against Chlorine Gas Danger

The Emergency Measures Organization will meet with senior public health officer Fred Alcock to discuss the dangers of leaking chlorine, the Kelowna and District Safety Council was told Wednesday.

In a report to the council, Mr. Alcock said he was contacted by area EMO co-ordinator A. H. Whitehouse to meet with the co-ordinators Monday to discuss the problem.

The next step may be to formulate a plan throughout the Okanagan whereby the fire departments in the larger communities, such as Kelowna, Vernon and Penticton, who have Scott air packs on hand, could be brought into the picture.

Mr. Alcock said each firehall could have at least one man specially trained to handle chlorine and that fire department "could act as a liaison with the area having the problem."

The problem crept up before the February meeting when Mr. Alcock said he was surprised to discover there was no safety program to prevent such accidents.

"With EMO involved, this might be alleviated," he said. "I was astonished last year when I attended an EMO course in Arnprior, Ont., to find chlorine was not on their list of priorities."

"Since then, the situation has changed," he said.

At the last meeting, Mr. Alcock expressed alarm about the large quantity of chlorine being used in the Okanagan, with the majority of the chemical being trucked in.

SEEN and HEARD

A model of the distillation system and equipment to be used at the Hiram Walker operation at Winfield will be an integral part of training programs employed by the distillery. A photograph of the unique and complicated scale model was carried in the Courier-Monday. Not mentioned was the cost of the model itself which is estimated by officials at about $12,000. Asked if such a cost could be justified in a training program, a spokesman pointed out "we only have to avoid one $20,000 accident to make it worthwhile."

The Kelowna One-Along Club will meet at 8 p.m. today in the board room of the regional library. A city lawyer will speak on the ramifications of incorporating the club for divorced, separated or single parents under the Societies Act.

With spring around the corner, the weatherman is cooperating by bringing spring-like conditions—sunny skies and relatively warm temperatures. As yet, the public forecast does not mention conditions for Saturday officially, but unofficially, these conditions are expected to continue through the weekend. Spring officially begins about 11:30 p.m. Saturday.

School Tenders Approved

The provincial government has approved tender call for three School District 23 (Kelowna) projects worth an estimated $432,000.

Of the three, a four classroom addition to Quigley Elementary, Rutland, worth $172,000, is the largest. This addition, the last, will give the school 18 classrooms.

Rutland Airport Elementary, consisting of four classrooms and a library, worth $130,000 is new.

Rutland Secondary School will also see $130,000 worth of construction at the site which will include three classrooms and a library expansion.

No date has been set aside for the tender deadline. Previously, Victoria approved the school board to call tenders on other projects worth $499,000, including a gymnasium for KLO Junior Secondary School.

... Sunny

Skies will be sunny Friday morning, clouding over Friday afternoon.

Wednesday's high was 45, the overnight low 20, with no precipitation.

Low tonight and high Friday will be 20 and 47.

PROBATION

Two Kelowna residents were placed on probation recently by county court Judge G. S. Demroche after pleading guilty to drug charges. Noel Martin received two years for trafficking in marijuana, and a year for possession of it. Rudolf Schoenfeld received a year for possession of marijuana.

Crash Brings Charge

A Kelowna woman whose car was in collision with a parked car early this morning pleaded guilty before Judge D. M. White in provincial court to driving while the alcohol content in her blood was more than .08 per cent.

Isabelle Wood was stopped just after the collision on Bernard Avenue. Damage was estimated at $50. She was fined $250 and her driver's licence suspended for six months.

Fined $200 and ruled off the road for six months on the same offence was Paul Everett Cohan of Kelowna, who also pleaded guilty.

A Kelowna youth, Chester Shearer, pleaded guilty to violating terms of his probation by not paying $79. The judge fined him $25 and said that, if the money is not paid into court by Friday, Shearer will be arrested.

COLLISION

Damage estimate was $350 in a collision Wednesday at Bernard Avenue and Glenmore Street. Reported driving were Harry Baran and Edward Arkell of Kelowna.

FILMS

Arrived

Adventure and travel films in British Columbia, to be shown today at 7:30 p.m. in Kelowna Secondary, have arrived, says S. J. Gowland, adult education director.

The films failed to arrive for the series' premiere last week when the provincial department of tourism neglected to send the films.

The films are: Highlights of Highway 10; Echoes of Gold—the Barkerville story; A Place of Refuge—East Kootenays and Tight Lines.

TEEN TOWN CANDIDATE

What better choice for Lady of the Lake candidate for Kelowna Teen Town than its reigning queen, Miss Teen Town, Trudy Walker. Finest of the entries so far, the 17-year-old ash blonde stands a pretty five feet, two inches tall and weighs a feminine 107 pounds. A Grade 11 student at Kelowna Secondary School, Trudy wants to be a kindergarten teacher, although she has hopeful visions of an airline stewardess career. She's currently taking a commerce course in school. Born in Halifax, Trudy has been a city resident for eight years and loves both snow and water skiing, basketball, tennis and swimming. She also likes sewing and cooking. A staunch Teen Towner, she is currently secretary-treasurer of the South Okanagan Teen Association. This is her first time as a Lady of the Lake candidate which she thinks "should be a lot of fun."

ABOUT ENVIRONMENT

Okanagan In Precarious Position

A manpower shortage and the lack of a public health laboratory in the Okanagan are hamstringing the South Okanagan Health Unit in its attempts to monitor the environment, the unit's senior public health inspector said this week.

Speaking at the annual meeting of the South Okanagan Union Board of Health, Fred Alcock warned that monitoring of the environment is necessary because the Okanagan is in a "most precarious position."

"We are hamstringing by the lack of laboratory facilities in the valley, and we are also deficient in manpower," he said. "These two aspects combined make the biggest problem public health staffs will have to face."

Mr. Alcock suggested the manpower problem can be helped with the use of student public health inspectors and pointed out there are currently 28 of them at the British Columbia Institute of Technology.

Last year, two students were employed by the Health Unit with their wages paid by the Federal Government, the City of Penticton and SPEC.

He said new aspects of the environment are being found all the time.

"The Okanagan Valley, without a doubt, is in a most precarious position, due in part to views of previous pollution control experts" (so called) where the Valley's waterways were considered to be "nature sewers" into which it was suggested communities rid themselves of their wastes in the light that the 'solution' to pollution was dilution."

He said time has already proven them wrong.

"We in this and future generations to come will have to live with the fact that fish in Okanagan Lake are contaminated with mercury and DDT and that accelerated enrichment of Okanagan, Skaha and Osoyoos Lakes is causing serious taste problems in domestic water occurring in the breakdown products and existence of undesirable algae and plankton."

He said domestic water users in many areas are abandoning lake intakes and installing wells.

Mr. Alcock said in his report it is important to monitor those aspects of the environment which may cause public health problems.

"There is a strange paradox developing where the advancing technologies which have made our high standards of civilization possible at the same time are creating most of the environmental ailments which some day may eliminate man through his inability to adapt to the changing conditions which he is inadvertently creating with his super knowledge."

Mr. Alcock said many people are unaware of the changes taking place because of the tendency by so called experts to hide facts and conditions.

He said monitoring is needed of the chemicals draining into the lakes, atmospheric pollution, ground water resources and humans.

Short Takes

Cars without mufflers, faulty mufflers and with mufflers especially designed to produce loud noises are more than a nuisance. They're a menace because they drown out other traffic sounds, adding to the pedestrian's danger. Let's have more prosecution of drivers of mobile junkpiles and noise-making "muscle" cars.

Even the well-built super-roads aren't immune to winter's ravages. Take, for instance, the new Interstate 90, on the west side of the Snoqualmie Pass in Washington. Several miles of it are so littered with wide and deep potholes that it is downright dangerous to drive more than 40 miles an hour on this highway which is posted 70.

The Oregon Coast has always fascinated us. We know of no better place to spend a week just relaxing. We've always had a desire to be there when there was a good blow. Our wishes were answered last week with a vengeance. It was quite an education to sit comfortably in a window and watch the waves toss six-foot-in-diameter and fifty-foot long water-soaked tree trunks around like matches on the beach below. There's plenty of power going to waste there. Perhaps someday man will harness it. And in doing so, will probably ruin those gorgeous beaches.

Ten days in Washington and Oregon failed to produce a single disagreeable, even grumpy, person. They were all cheerful, friendly, anxious to help. And it was more than just good manners; they appeared sincere. Wonder if one could say the same after 10 days in B.C.?

And speaking of tourism, Alberta's tourist department believes Canadians and Americans are different. The department, out to draw tourists from both countries, intends to promote "Peace Alberta" in the United States and "Wild Alberta" in Canada. Happily Alberta is big as well as beautiful so there's room to accommodate the crisis-weary, tranquility-seeking Americans as well as the fun-loving, adventure-hunting Canadians.

Long before the ubiquitous hot dog first leaked mustard on a hockey fan's vest, food and sports have been intimately associated. Food is a sport in itself. A sport that's been only lightly exploited. (Excepting popcorn at the movies!) The English village of Olney, which competes annually with Liberal, Kansas, in a pancake-flipping race, claims a tradition of local pancake contests going back more than 500 years. Though other towns in other countries have offered to compete, Olney and Liberal operate as a closed league. The other towns should not accept defeat by default, however. For the sake of healthy, not to mention nourishing competition, they should organize their own munching olympics. Preferably with foods that reflect community character. Kelowna, for instance, might challenge some place in Italy or France to an apple-rolling-by-nose competition. Or how about a frozen TV dinner thawing race in a couple of sophisticated suburbs? West Vancouver and Beverly Hills, Calif., perhaps? Or a draft beer and cheese contest in the cities? Or a macaroni marathon where there is a Mediterranean flavor? Communities with the competitive urge need not be deflated by the pancake establishment's snub. Let them strive with other dishes. Man does not live by pancakes alone.

Normally the state of Oregon's liquor sales increase by five per cent a year. Something less than a year ago, the state, being greedy for revenue, increased the price to the consumer something like 15 per cent. In the eight or nine months the increase has been in effect, the sales have decreased by 15 per cent. There would seem to be a lesson here which might well be taken to heart by Premier Bennett and his liquor control board. Perhaps it has been and this was the reason he refrained from adding more taxes on this lucrative sales item in the last budget.

Foreign Investments

(Victoria Times)
Mr. Herb Gray, the Minister of National Revenue, and the man who is supervising the cabinet study on foreign investments, spoke at the University of Windsor on March 6. He made no specific revelations of the findings of the cabinet study but the general tone of these findings no doubt were reflected in his remarks.

Mr. Gray's comments on the problem of foreign investments reflect more than attention to the problem of Canadian control—they are concerned much more with the performance of industries which might become subject to control. The efficiency and productivity of individual firms should be considered as well, he said. The encouragement of Canadian production facilities would have to accompany any restrictive measures against foreign-owned firms.

The debate on foreign ownership is entering a complex and subtle stage. The question which seems to occupy

Mr. Gray involves the methods of implementation which would have the least shock and dislocation for the national economy. The question is no longer so much whether restrictions on foreign ownership are necessary, as what specific firms or industries should be subject to restrictions and for what specific reasons. The principal consideration now seems to be the ability of Canada to absorb the changes which are coming.

Most Canadians have indicated a positive response to the necessity of foreign investment restrictions. There have been numerous reports on the problem of foreign economic control and the facts and probable results of such control are hardly in doubt. The very delicate job of translating public sentiment into legislation which will be acceptable because it is economically feasible as well as politically desirable has now begun. With very little fanfare we are entering the dollars and cents phase of a new national policy.

AP NEWS SPOTLIGHT

Central African Republic Site Of Political Twisting

BANGUI, Central African Republic (AP) — "It is necessary to be a little irrational in order to understand the situation here," observed the diplomat. He was only half joking.

The diplomatic corps of this Africa-sized country in the precise middle of Africa is doing its best to analyse the latest about-face of President Jean-Bedel Bokassa.

Last year Bokassa declared: "From now on we are aligning ourselves with the progressive and socialist camp." That seemed an interesting proposition. The Central African Republic is dependent on France, the former colonial power, for doctors, teachers, technicians and trade—but Bokassa has been feuding with two successive French ambassadors.

"The problem is that everything here belongs to the French," noted one resident. "There is nothing Bokassa can point at and say, 'That's mine, I built that.' This infuriates him."

Bokassa, who recently promoted himself to a three-star general, has ruled his nation of 3.5 million by decree since seizing power in 1966. Then head of the army, Bokassa charged that President David Dacko, his cousin, was turning the country over to the Chinese Communists.

WANTS RAILWAY
The president wants to build a railway to link his landlocked republic with the sea, by way of Cameroon or Gabon. But the price appears unjustifiably high for a country whose annual budget totals $45 million, much of it indirectly underwritten by France.

"I will adopt the ideology of whatever country will build my railway," Bokassa once announced during his "opening to the East" phase.

But the Russians, the Romanians, the East Germans and the North Koreans—all of whom have embassies here—proved much less forthcoming than the French, Americans, West Germans, South Vietnamese and Nationalist Chinese, who make up another element of Bangui's diplomatic potpourri.

Disillusioned, Bokassa has reversed gears. He made up with the humiliated, outraged French ambassador and began piling accolades on the Americans—"the revolutionaries of the 20th century... the heroes of our time."

PARIS (AP) — France is recording a sharp increase in "le holdup," purse snatchings and joy-riding. So far it has escaped crime on the scale that American authorities trace to narcotics users, but authorities are fearful.

"Every country is having the same problem," says Andre Baudouin, commissioner in the uniform division of the Paris area police.

"I don't know where we're going. People don't have any morals any more. It worries me a lot."

Baudouin's responsibility is safety in the streets. Parisians still feel safe alone on downtown streets at night. But petty crime is skyrocketing, especially in the suburbs.

Murders and attempts remained steady at 255 a year in 1969 and 1970. Holdups by professional gangs are negligible in an urban area of 6.5 million.

"Nowadays it's the amateurs," said Baudouin. "A bunch of kids are sitting around saying, 'Let's get some money and go to the Riviera,' and they knock off a suburban bank branch, then another."

"We could keep an eye on the pros, but we don't have the manpower to watch all the trouble-bent youths in town."

In the last decade, break-ins almost tripled to 36,121. From 1969 to 1970 purse snatchings rose to 892 from 787, and taxi-cab robberies to 45 from 27. From all offences, arrests rose 15 per cent between 1969 and 1970.

Paris' population-to-policeman ratio is 216 to 1 compared with 255 for New York, 260 for Chicago and 500 for Los Angeles.

Traffic problems and student riots often sap the time of the 29,500-man force. Last year 526 events required between 100 and 5,000 riot troops, and 10 required more than 5,000.

"Americanization" several years ago is blamed for the loss of one effective policing method—les Hirondelles or the Swallows.

Soviet Changes Jewish Policy

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government has taken a major policy decision on the Jewish emigration problem and within the last 10 days has permitted about 150 Jews to leave for Israel, reliable Soviet sources reported Tuesday.

The sources emphasized that although an average of 15 Jews have left the Soviet Union daily since the decision, the authorities placed no limit on the number who would be allowed to leave.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

PARK COMPLEX

Sir:
I have read with considerable interest the arguments for and against the community complex suggested for the City Park, in part, as a replacement for the Aquatic Club.

While I have not made up my mind on the proposed development, I certainly favor the linear park concept. What strikes me most forcibly, as a result of a visit to the park last Sunday, is the homage paid to the almighty automobile. In addition to access roadways, there is a great deal of area given over to parking space. This asphalt naturally replaces grass and reduces the amount of park area that can be enjoyed by the citizens of Kelowna.

On a weekend, the City Park is used by a great many motorists and motorcyclists as a race track. It is essential, in my opinion, to keep your children on at least a figurative leash. Bicyclists are almost forced to use the pedestrian walkways and the RCMP seldom patrol to enforce speed limits and anti-noise bylaws.

I would like to suggest, in the strongest way possible, that automobiles and motorcyclists be banned from the park! A limited access roadway could be utilized for city vehicles, emergency vehicles (ambulances, RCMP) and the park considerably enhanced by the removal of the asphalt. Pedestrian walkways and bicycle paths could perhaps be developed.

Regardless of whether the community complex is eventually constructed in the park, I believe strongly that there is absolutely no need for vehicles in the park. This form of air, noise and visual pollution has no place in an area devoted to the enjoyment of all citizens of Kelowna.

Yours truly,
J. M. ROBERTS

Stanfield Never Prime Minister Dief Said Before PC's '67 Race

OTTAWA (CP) — Eighteen days before the 1967 Conservative leadership convention was to open, a chauffeur-driven limousine arrived at Stornoway, the Opposition leader's home in suburban Rockcliffe. It was Aug. 20, a Sunday.

Mayor Jean Drapeau had come from Montreal to talk to John Diefenbaker about the possibility of succeeding him as Conservative leader. The meeting, arranged at Mr. Diefenbaker's request, lasted about two hours.

About noon that day, Mr. Diefenbaker told James Johnston, the party's national director: "It's all off, it's all off."

Mr. Johnston tells about this meeting in his book The Party's Over, to be published April 2 by Longman Canada Ltd at $10.

Mr. Johnston a few days later went to Montreal to try his persuasion on Mr. Drapeau. But it was Centennial Year and the mayor was having too much fun presiding over Expo.

Mr. Johnston quotes Mrs. Diefenbaker as saying she was almost ready to go to Montreal herself to talk with Mr. Drapeau.

A DIEF LOYALIST

He was national director of the party in the hectic "dump Dief" years which culminated in the 1967 election of Robert Stanfield as party leader. He was one of the most loyal of the Diefenbaker loyalists.

At the Toronto convention, Mr. Diefenbaker asked Mr. Johnston whom he thought would win. When Mr. Johnston said Stanfield, the Old Chief said: "Stanfield, eh? He'll never be prime minister."

In his fascinating account of how it looked from the inside, Mr. Johnston maintains that Mr. Diefenbaker would never have entered the 1967 leadership contest if he could have found a way out with honor.

But little men had squeezed and pushed and tried to corner him.

"There was no gesture, nothing that would let John Diefenbaker step out with dignity. It seemed that the party establishment was in the hands of those who were deliberately trying to humiliate him."

Mr. Johnston says Dalton Camp, then party president, led the dump Dief campaign because he wanted the leadership for himself.

"He's the guy he likes best," he says of Mr. Camp.

Mr. Johnston writes that a Nova Scotia MP told him Mr. Stanfield entered the leadership race because otherwise Mr. Camp would have run, thus forcing Mr. Diefenbaker to run.

LOST THE WAR

Mr. Camp won his battles to oust Mr. Diefenbaker "but the Conservative party lost the war."

Mr. Johnston says that after the November, 1966, party meeting in Ottawa at which the decision was taken to hold a leadership convention, Conservative MPs loyal to Mr. Diefenbaker wanted to form their own party. There would have been enough of them so that they would have still formed the official opposition.

But Mr. Diefenbaker would have none of this, Mr. Johnston says.

"The Chief said they must never split away from the party—that would be awful."

Mr. Diefenbaker was informed while shark-fishing off Florida that another candidate had entered the leadership contest.

He told Mr. Johnston: "Send him down to me. I could use him as bait."

The book says William Davis, now Ontario premier, might well have won the leadership in 1967 if he had run.

Mr. Johnston jibes at his party in general as well as at Mr. Camp and the Camp followers.

Describing one party meeting, he says: "Like good Tories, everyone was shouting at everyone else."

SIGNALS CROSSED

In late 1968, the party caucus swept out of the national executive all the anti-Diefenbaker MPs except Gordon Fairweather, MP for Fundy-Royal. Mr. Fairweather "was supposed to go too but the signals got mixed and he was left."

Gordon Churchill, former MP for Winnipeg South Centre, said he had been in three wars: First, Second and Diefenbaker.

Mr. Johnston says the Conservatives lost the 1965 election when Duff Roblin, the premier of Manitoba, declined to run in Churchill's preferred seat.

Some of Mr. Johnston's funniest stories are about his terror of the Chief as he crossed him on messes up an assignment.

He relates that after one party meeting in Victoria at which he had gone against the Chief's orders Mr. Diefenbaker, by telephone from Ottawa, ordered him back to the capital immediately. Mr. Johnston began his trip by taking a boat from Victoria to Seattle.

He even tells a story on himself involving Mr. Camp.

Mr. Johnston was often mistaken for Mr. Camp and needed the latter with accounts of the verbal and physical abuse he had to take.

Mr. Camp once said to him: "Funny you are mistaken for me. But I am never mistaken for you."

SOME NOT FUNNY

But most of Mr. Johnston's cracks about Mr. Camp are not funny and aren't meant to be.

In the 1963 election campaign when the Conservatives lost, Mr. Camp as campaign director had run the most disastrous campaign in party history.

As party president later, Mr. Camp had been "in a active, unco-operative and do-nothing."

Meeting Mr. Diefenbaker face to face, Mr. Camp had become so flustered he had addressed the opposition leader as "prime minister."

"That's what I like to hear," Mr. Diefenbaker had said, "Keep it up."

The Old Versus The New At Rutland Fashion Show

RUTLAND — The old saying — "if you keep a stylish garment long enough, it will come back into favor," was noticed by more than 400 attending the Rutland Kinetite Club's centennial fashion show Wednesday night in the Rutland Centennial hall.

A fawn colored wool jacket and black mid-length skirt combined as a walking costume from the early 1900's looked not unlike fashion sketches from a current style magazine.

Modelled by Mrs. D. Steele, the jacket of military style, with a fitted waist featured a pleated peplum at the back. Adding to its charm were detailed stitching and Mother of Pearl buttons. Overgarments completed the costume.

Among the 20 authentic costumes which drew admiring glances was a ballroom gown worn by Mrs. W. H. Ribelin in 1890. Modelled by Mrs. Douglas Follett, president of the Kinetite Club she was picture of total femininity. The underskirt of red China silk with satin ribbon dust ruffles was enhanced with overskirt of sheer black silk in striped effect.

An ankle length white pique dress modelled by Allison Major belonged to Mrs. T. B. Upton. Allison, one of the youngest models in the show, was charming in a brimmed straw hat trimmed with grosgrain ribbon.

Teen-agers in the crowd were impressed with the winter evening ensemble from the 20's worn by Mrs. G. Cooper. The fully lined white rabbit fur with matching hood and boots sported an afghan wrap around collar. The costume which belongs to Mrs. B. Wood included a pale blue georgette evening dress with gored skirt. With floating panels on the skirt and the capel, the soft clingy fabrics were typical of that era.

The 1890 version of the classical shirtwaist costume, modelled by Mrs. D. Jaud was of navy satin offset by lame thread. This garment fashioned during the reign of Queen Alexandra featured a double sleeve, with a finely tucked undersleeve and a high Alexandrian collar.

Mrs. T. B. Upton herself was simply elegant in a gown worn by her paternal grandmother in the early 1860's. Of pale mauve moire taffeta with a full skirt it has a fitted boned bodice. A wide lace collar set off the uncluttered lines of this lovely gown.

PARIS ORIGINAL

Another gown owned by Mrs. Upton and modelled by Mrs. M. DeMara was a mid look of the 20's which compared to the 70's. The cream colored chiffon trimmed with silk braid is a Paris original.

The belle of the beach in 1910 was a knock-out in a blue gingham two-piece swimsuit. Mrs. R. Bouchard modelled the one piece chemise with a matching overskirt and Mrs. D. Steele was daring in the slinky black wool bathing suit of the late twenties.

With her usual flair for fashion know how, Mrs. Dave Chapman handled the commenting chores with ease. Providing background music on the piano was Mrs. Cecil Moore.

MODELS

Models for the authentic fashions of yesteryear were: Mrs. Upton, Mrs. John Surtees, Mrs. D. Jaud, Mrs. G. Cooper, Mrs. D. Steele, Mrs. M. DeMara, Mrs. R. Bouchard, Mrs. D. Follett and Mrs. D. Fowler.

Modeling today's styles, supplied by Rutland shops were: Leadedbetter, princess; Jean dress with gored skirt; With Wilson Major; Mrs. Rothwell Lee, Mrs. R. Taylor, Mrs. Jean Rushton and Annette Ludbrook, who did a terrific job of filling in for Mrs. A. North who was unable to appear.

Mrs. Rothwell Lee at 82 years claimed the distinction of being the oldest model in the show. Escorted by J. R. Callaghan, a Rutland Kinsmen, she was lovely in a sky-blue two piece dress and jacket ensemble of a completely washable fabric.

While many women yearned to recapture the romantic femininity of the bygone styles, the thoughts of the hours of hand sewing and the hours of 'sads' irons made the easy care synthetics of this decade look even prettier.

Pant suits appeared to be holding No. 1 spot in the preview of summer fashions shown, with hot pants, peasant ensembles and a provocative slits in the maxi skirts adding spice to the scene.

STOVE PIPE LEGS

Stove pipe legs in the pant suits have the edge for this year's looks and colors run riot with whites, navy, black sharing the spotlight with multi flower hues.

Accessories shown included wet look crushed leathers in shoes and bags, with cork soles a favorite.

Wigs in the ringlet cascades, Greek boy cuts, Beau Geste and way out Afro-naturals appear to be a must for every well dressed 'gal' on the go.

Catching the 'centennial spirit' from the Rutland Kinetite, many women in attendance from adjacent points as well as Rutland were decked out in centennial theme costumes. Twenty-six entered the centennial costume contest sponsored by the Kinetites in conjunction with the show.

CONTEST WINNERS

First place went to Mrs. Gary Cooper whose purple satin creation with matching parasol, was stunning.

Mrs. Anne Murray, second, made a pioneer type gown with matching pantaloons, poke bonnet and draw string purse.

In third place was Mrs. Harold Johnson who made a navy and white print which featured a crisp white scarf collar.

Honorable mention went to Frances Surtees modelling a lovely gown hand sewn by her mother, Mrs. John Surtees.

The family entry was won by Mrs. Norman Hitchman, with her daughter Mrs. Bryan Major and five granddaughters modelling with her.

Judges for the costume contest were Mrs. R. D. Knox, Mrs. Nigel Pooley and Mrs. T. B. Upton.

Emceed by Mrs. Doug Follett, the evening included entertainment by the Rutland Mad Hatters, and Gail Picket's Can girls: Dottie Kaufman, Helma Baars, Julie Hurd, Teresa Schnell, Jane Currell, Corrie Walraven and Joan Doerkson.

PARIS ORIGINAL

Another gown owned by Mrs. Upton and modelled by Mrs. M. DeMara was a mid look of the 20's which compared to the 70's. The cream colored chiffon trimmed with silk braid is a Paris original.

The belle of the beach in 1910 was a knock-out in a blue gingham two-piece swimsuit. Mrs. R. Bouchard modelled the one piece chemise with a matching overskirt and Mrs. D. Steele was daring in the slinky black wool bathing suit of the late twenties.

With her usual flair for fashion know how, Mrs. Dave Chapman handled the commenting chores with ease. Providing background music on the piano was Mrs. Cecil Moore.

MODELS

Models for the authentic fashions of yesteryear were: Mrs. Upton, Mrs. John Surtees, Mrs. D. Jaud, Mrs. G. Cooper, Mrs. D. Steele, Mrs. M. DeMara, Mrs. R. Bouchard, Mrs. D. Follett and Mrs. D. Fowler.

Modeling today's styles, supplied by Rutland shops were: Leadedbetter, princess; Jean dress with gored skirt; With Wilson Major; Mrs. Rothwell Lee, Mrs. R. Taylor, Mrs. Jean

Teachers Strike Brings Reaction

RUTLAND — Local student reaction to the news that school on Friday would be cancelled because of a one-day province-wide teacher strike for higher pension allowances, ranged Wednesday from glee to sadness.

Two grade 10 students at Rutland Secondary School said they would rather attend school than see teachers strike.

Gloria Krabberger said she would rather go to school on a scheduled day than stay home "under any conditions."

Karin Tietz said she was afraid teachers might establish a pattern by striking Friday. She said she'd "hate to see" strikes disrupt her education in any way.

A grade nine student at Kelowna Secondary School, Steve Purdy, could only say "far out" when he heard about the strike. In the language of present day youth this is equivalent to "that's great."

Debbie Pidwerbeski, a grade 11 student at Rutland Secondary School said she would not miss going to school Friday.

"In fact," said Debbie, "I think a permanent strike would be great."

Another Rutland Secondary School student, Vicki Fowler, who is in grade 11, expressed some disappointment at the cause of the strike.

"I think the teachers should be striking for better schools, rather than for more money. That seems to be all they care about."

Peachland Lions Will Continue Swim Bay Project

PEACHLAND (Special) — The regular meeting of the Peachland Lions Club was held Tuesday in the recreation hall.

The membership will research facilities available to supply booths and concession stands for the third day of the centennial celebrations and report their findings at the next meeting.

Mrs. Arne Oltmans, the walker sponsored by the club in last Saturday's walkathon, completed the walk and arrangements made to pay the pledge.

The club felt that they should continue with the renovations to the swim bay. It was reported extensive repairs to the wharf and new diving boards for the tower would be a contribution to the community this year.

Before any plans are finalized on this project the club will contact Peachland Parks and Recreation Commission.

Miss Rutland '71 Crown Sought By Six Beauties

RUTLAND — Six Rutland beauties are to contend for the title of Miss Rutland '71, and her princess.

The crowning of the two winners in the contest will take place on June 12.

The Rutland Kinsmen Club will be sponsoring the crowning event, a Coronation Ball at Centennial Hall.

The six girls contesting the dual honor are:

Janice Buchner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Buchner, 120 Holbrook Rd. E., Rutland. She is sponsored by the Rutland Knights of Columbus.

Linda Anton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Anton, Lewis Rd., Rutland. She's sponsored by the Rutland Parks Society.

Cheryl Charlton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Charlton, Moyer Rd., Rutland, sponsored by the Rutland Lions Club.

Erica Koetz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Heinz Koetz, Gallagher Rd., Rutland. She is sponsored by the Rutland Firemen.

Carol Peters, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Peters, Sycamore Rd., Rutland, sponsored by Rutland Teen Town.

Linda Stranghan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Stranghan, Hwy. 97, Kelowna, sponsored by the Rutland Kinsmen Club.

Wood Lake School Entertains Parents

WINFIELD (Special) — About 100 parents enjoyed an entertaining afternoon at the Wood Lake Elementary School on March 15. The occasion was the school's Centennial project, a spelling bee. Monday afternoon was the culmination of two rounds of eliminations. Class eliminations were held first, and then each of grades 4 to 7 eliminated to their best eight spellers. These final 32 pupils contested the finals on Monday. The winners were:

Grade 4, Karen Hofmann; Grade 5, Robert Pestes; Grade 6, Arthur Pollard; Grade 7, Fay Donhauser.

The spelling championship was won by Arthur Pollard who will be presented with a plaque in June by Hiram Walker. Mr. Berthe, principal of the Winfield Elementary School, presented the winners with certificates.

An entertaining physical education program was presented by a group of grade 5 students trained by Mrs. Joyce Maber. A variety of forward rolls, chin-up bar and vaulting box exercises were performed.

GRASS FIRE

RUTLAND — Seven members of the Rutland Fire Department responded to a grass fire call then each of grades 4 to 7 eliminated to their best eight spellers. These final 32 pupils contested the finals on Monday. The winners were:

Grade 4, Karen Hofmann; Grade 5, Robert Pestes; Grade 6, Arthur Pollard; Grade 7, Fay Donhauser.

Mobile Home Park In Rutland Area

RUTLAND — A Rutland realtor says the time has come for trailer owners "to be given their place" in the area.

Alan Patterson, owner of Midvalley Realty Ltd., which is developing a 20-acre mobile home park just off McCurdy Road, said he's always felt trailer owners "were discriminated against."

"People who want to live in trailers should have their place too, just like everyone else," he said. "After all, they're taxed just like everyone else."

Mr. Patterson said he is growing "impatient" with the hesitancy of the Central Okanagan Regional Planning Board to allow the area to be rezoned for a trailer park.

The park would be developed in stages Mr. Patterson said, with the first stage being built as soon as rezoning is approved.

Defective Shots Result In Suit

CHICAGO (AP) — Constance Hansen Kapp, 24, Phoenix, Ariz., has been awarded a $240,000 settlement here for damage suffered in medical treatment as an infant. The award was made by Judge William Daly in Circuit Court against the American Hospital Supply Co., successor to the company which she alleged manufactured defective serum that caused brain damage. She was inoculated with the serum when she was six months old.

FIRE WARNING

PEACHLAND (Special) — The Peachland Volunteer Fire Brigade was called out Tuesday morning to a grass fire on the MacGregor subdivision of Somerset Avenue. The fire was quickly brought under control, with no financial loss. This is the third call answered by the brigade in a week and Fire Marshal J. R. Davies requests all residents to take care when burning.

Mixed Bonspiel This Weekend

PEACHLAND (Special) — A mixed bonspiel will be held at the Peachland curling rink Friday, Saturday and Sunday. This is the wind-up bonspiel in Peachland for the 1970-71 season with 18 rinks from Kelowna, Summerland and Peachland entered.

The annual banquet will be held Saturday evening at the Tolem Inn with playoffs scheduled for Sunday. Starting time Friday is 2 p.m.

The Peachland men's league playoffs were held March 16 and the Allan MacKinnon rink is the champion.

A Former Kelowna Student To Oxford On Fellowship

A former Kelowna student, Russell Jaye Boyd, has been awarded an NRC post doctoral fellowship to study with Professor C. A. Coulson at the University of Oxford. He was an honors student at Lester Pearson High School in New Westminster where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Boyd, reside.

R. J. Boyd took his undergraduate training in honors chemistry at the University of British Columbia, receiving his B.Sc. in 1967. While attending UBC he distinguished himself by being awarded an Allied Chemical of Canada scholarship; the Chemical Institute of Canada Book Prize for highest standing honors chemistry; the Mallinckrodt Chemical Works Ltd. award, plus government scholarships.

Following his graduation as top chemistry student at the University of British Columbia, Mr. Boyd was awarded a National Research Council 1967 science scholarship at the University of McGill in Montreal. It was here he joined Dr. M. A. Whitehead to do quantum chemistry research. He was also resident at the University of Manitoba, Winnipeg, for part of the 1969-70 academic year, and was provided with research facilities by their department of chemistry.

Mrs. Boyd, the former Susan McKay-Keenan, also attended McGill and the University of Manitoba with her husband. She is currently at Oxford and will also have her Ph.D. in the near future.

Russell Jaye Boyd returned to McGill in September, 1970, to complete his thesis (Jan. '71), final portion being his oral before seven professors in the Otto Maass Chemistry Building. His presentation, judged "excellent" by the panel, concerned Approximate Self-Consistent Molecular Orbital Theory.

While at McGill, R. J. Boyd was chosen to attend a seminar at the University of Florida in Gainesville.

LSD-Spiked Chips

Made 50 People Ill

TORRANCE, Calif. (AP) — Donald John Henry, 31, said he spiked potato chips with the hallucinogenic drug LSD at a party last April because he thought it would make for a "great" party. The guests weren't aware of what Henry had done. Henry was sentenced in Superior Court Wednesday to six years to life imprisonment for the act and for several other narcotics charges. Fifty persons at the party were treated at hospitals.

TWO SENTENCED

CASTLEGAR (CP) — Two 21-year-old Nakusp residents were sentenced Tuesday on charges of trafficking in marijuana. Kurt Bleterman was sentenced to 18 months and Herbert Ralph Harris was given two years less a day.

ANN LANDERS

Watch 'Short' Circuits In Computer Dating

Dear Ann Landers: I just read a heartbreaking story in the newspaper and hope you will do what you can to warn people against computer dating firms and various so-called mate-matching agencies. A woman in Carteret, N.J., said her daughter who had a crippled spine sent $395 to a service which promised dates over a five-year period. She didn't get even one. One man telephoned but he sounded so crude she hung up on him. When the girl asked for a refund from the company she was told, "Sorry — we don't give refunds."

Another man spent $395 and was promised a date every two weeks for three years. He received five names from the "service" and met only one girl who was "not what he had hoped for."

Isn't it pathetic that lonely people, desperate for companionship, get bilked out of their hard-earned money by these crooks? I, myself, have seen their mailings. Some of them look very respectable. They carry endorsements of clergymen and doctors—pictures and all. Please, Ann, do what you can to alert the reading public to these unscrupulous scoundrels. It would be a real service. Thank you.

—Newark News Reader
Dear N.N.: I have repeatedly printed warnings against computer dating services and mate-matching operations and will continue to do so. I'm afraid, however, that Barnum was right. There's a sucker born every minute. (And two to take 'em.)

Dear Ann Landers: We thought you might like to know about a family that enjoys good teen-ager-parent relationship. We did it by establishing guidelines as well as giving freedom within those lines. The letter below sums it up.—Rev. and Mrs. L. E. D., Elberfeld, Indiana.

Dear Daughter: Congratulations on passing the test for your operator's licence. Your car keys were given to you with the understanding that you will behave as a responsible young adult. Your keys, like your operator's licence, are probationary—yours so long as they are used with common sense and courtesy. But they will be taken from you if there is reason to believe you have abused the privilege. We realize anyone can have an accident but please drive defensively at all times.

Your mother and I are willing to pay for the extra insurance and gasoline so long as the above conditions are followed. We regret we cannot afford to give you a car of your own but we promise to be cooperative and generous with the family car. We ask only that you let us know where you are going and who will be riding with you.

Love, — Mother and Dad

HITHER and YON

Percy Wise and Mrs. Wise travelled to Vancouver this week to attend the annual convention and trade fair of electrical contractors. Mr. Wise not only represents the firm he is employed with in Kelowna but also represents the Okanagan chapter of the Electrical Contractors Association of British Columbia.

A St. Patrick theme was used for the bride's chair when 15 women, all members of the Kelowna Daily Courier staff honored Mrs. Gerald Johnson at a surprise miscellaneous shower.

Mrs. Johnson, nee Valerie Hoffman, whose marriage to Gerald Johnson took place in Kelowna on Friday, was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. P. H. Hoffman.

Many lovely and useful gifts were presented to the honoree who was crowned with a St. Patrick bowler when she arrived. Later the traditional hat of ribbons and bows was fashioned by Kai Okell.

The pleasant evening at the home of Mrs. H. R. Greer of Laurier Avenue, was completed with the serving of delicious refreshments.

John Rogers has returned to the Pearson hospital at Vancouver after enjoying the winter months here with his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Erl Storgaard of Highland Drive North.

Husbands Gain More Rights In Revised Act

VICTORIA (CP) — Husbands' rights in marital disputes would be strengthened under amendments to the Wives' and Children's Maintenance Act introduced in the British Columbia legislature Tuesday.

One change would give women the same legal liability for child maintenance as men. Judges issuing maintenance orders would be required to take into account the financial means of the wife, obligations of the husband and liability of other persons.

The amendments would allow family court judges to award custody of children, previously reserved for the British Columbia Supreme Court.

Husbands would be able to get a court order guaranteeing them "reasonable access" to their children when the parents are legally separated. Men who marry women with children from a previous marriage would become responsible for the maintenance of those children.

Women who have lived unmarried with a man for a year or more could apply to him for support of any children born as a result of the relationship. Amendments to the Small Claims Act and the Attachment of Debts Act would make it illegal for employers to fire employees whose wages have been garnished.

Attorney-General Leslie Peterson said he knows of some employers who have fired workers when their wages have been garnished, but he would not name them. The maximum penalty for firing an employee under these circumstances would be a $500 fine and three months in jail.

A suggestion was made that the Evening ACW give a birthday party for the extended care unit of the Kelowna General Hospital.

Tasty refreshments were served by Mrs. Jesse Ford and Mrs. Hope Marshall. The meeting closed with a prayer.

Versatile Thespian Has Other Talents

Lucinda Buchanan is lighting designer and assistant set designer for Kelowna Musical Productions' Damn Yankees. Lucinda has 'hot degree' in theatre and English from the University of British Columbia and was secretary for the Gallimaufry Theatre Co. for the summer of 1969. With a background like this, it is most fortunate that she has lent her talents so generously to both KMP and KLT.

In Lil Abner, she was Stupefying Jones and helped with make-up and sets. She was assistant director for The Crucible and is playing Miss Weston in Damn Yankees, as well as doing the lighting design and assisting the set designer.

Lucinda is stage managing The Killing Of Sister George and assisting the director, Sister George is KLT's April festival entry.

Kelowna Secondary School students are benefitting in many ways under Lucinda's guidance as drama teacher. She has directed several high school

Shoe Fashions Follow Clothing Each Person Is An Individual

TORONTO (CP) — This spring's assumption that fashion is an individual interpretation also applies to accessories: Fashion designers advise women to make up their own minds on what they want to wear, and stick to their convictions.

Top Canadian designers are backing up these decisions in their new lines. For example, fashion dictated last fall that hose should match shoes for a downward flow on color from the lowered hemline. Now a number of designers have reinstated the nude-stocking look.

It's no longer considered essential that leather handbags and shoes should match, either in grain or color. Of course it's still the more elegant look but if you're not feeling elegant, don't match.

Today boots and pant costumes seem synonymous. But several designers have turned to sturdy shoes.

However, the general spring trend is that first and foremost, everything from clothes to accessories is less extreme, more gentle, more feminine. The key word is soft.

In shoes, this is the season of specific shoes for specific costumes—within your own concept. The knicker suit looks best with a laced gladiator boot, and this goes for the hot pants or knee-length skirts. But there's nothing to prevent you wearing the new oxford ties with either the knicker or long pants-suit.

For the casual Chanel-type suit there's the Chanel pump with slimmer toe, such as a pale beige patent kid from Wallace of Montreal.

The peasant look can be enhanced by suitable footwear, as poncho shoe styles with fringed or cowboy touches. Laced-up-leg suede sandals are ideal for some of the dresses with peasant embroidery, or even could be gladiator boots for the young with real peasant costumes, as in a camel suede by Rosita of Montreal.

Have A Shady Corner Problem? Plant An 'Easy Grow' Hardy Fern

If you have a shady area in your garden where it is difficult to grow most plants, why not try hardy ferns? They will not give you an impressive display of flowers, but their soft silken beauty will be with you all summer long.

The unique way they have of unfolding their fronds in early spring, the wide diversity of forms, shapes and delicate leaf structures, and the almost complete lack of care necessary for their maintenance, once they have been established, make them highly desirable and justifies the preparation of special beds in shaded areas.

Used with spring bulbs, wild flowers and other early shade loving perennials, ferns make a remarkably carefree association. As the bulb foliage begins to look untidy, the sturdy fern fronds come up.

To give ferns a good start, select a shady or semi-shady area not under shallow rooted trees such as elms, but in a place shaded by the house or by trees during the hottest hours of the day. Most will withstand a limited amount of sunshine if it is filtered through tree foliage.

Proper soil preparation is essential to success with these plants. In their natural woodland habitat they grow in decayed leaves long fallen from the trees. They continue to grow through leaves that descend each fall. If the site you select for growing ferns is well

P H Nurse Speaks To T.O.P.S. Groups

On March 15, Waist-A-Weight T.O.P.S., a charter club of the Take Off Pounds Sensibly, held its regular weekly meeting at the home of Mrs. Ernest Poiras.

Miss L. E. McComb, public health nurse at the South Okanagan Health Unit attended the meeting and showed slides on the problems of overweight; how to control your diet and choosing your foods wisely.

Pamphlets of interest were passed around and members asked various questions pertaining to good nutrition and proper diet. Coffee was served which concluded a very inspiring evening.

T.O.P.S. is an international organization designed to help all the overweight who are sincerely interested in losing pounds sensibly. It is based on the principle of 'group therapy', getting together a group of people who have a problem in common and discussing it frankly without fear of being laughed at or misunderstood.

The members of a chapter compete with each other in a friendly fashion while attaining their ideal weight and in maintaining that weight.

T.O.P.S. is not a course of a few weeks or months duration. It is a well planned long range continuing program.

In areas of poor drainage elevate the bed with an edging of weathered stones. This will not only assist drainage, but will give you crevices and cracks in which to grow miniature ferns.

Ferns can be planted almost anytime during the year, if it just means transplanting from one place to another, but very early spring or early fall is the best time to get them from nurseries. To plant, dig a hole large enough so that the rhizomes can be spread in their natural position. Hold the plants upright and place them so that the crown or buds are just at ground level. Then fill in around them with small stones or gravelly soil or larger ferns use some quite sizeable stones from one to three inches in diameter. Summer care for the fern beds is probably less important than for the average garden border. Weeds need to be pulled out as they occur. Under-shady conditions this is not apt to be frequent. Water around the plants with a soaker hose as overhead watering will tend to beat down the fronds. In early July after a heavy rain, mulch the bed with a good organic material, such as well decayed leaves, buckwheat hulls or co-

Immaculata Win, Lose

Immaculata of Kelowna finished the first day at the B.C. high school girls' basketball championship in Victoria with a 1-1 record Wednesday, defeating Campbell River, Vancouver Island's number two representative 39-32, while losing to Vancouver's number one team 34-16 in their second encounter.

Paula Thorburn led the Kelowna attack in the first game, picking up 13 points, while Mary Sullivan was second high-point getter with eight.

The only senior A team playing among senior AA clubs, had to rely on a come-from-behind 18-point effort in the final half to claim the victory.

Immaculata lost their second game against a strong New Westminster club 34-16. The Kelowna squad, senior A Okanagan Valley champions, finished third in senior AA competition in Vernon, for the right to advance to the provincial championship.

Immaculata plays Prince Rupert today, with a victory moving them into the winners' round of the championship, and a loss relegating them to consolation play.

Claremont, the first Vancouver Island school to win the girls' basketball championship in the contest's 23-year history, started out in defence of its title with two wins at Victoria High School.

Claremont had to come from behind to beat J. Lloyd Crowe of Trail 38-21 in the afternoon and then downed Semiahmo 32-20 in the final of 12 games Wednesday.

Salmon Arm, whose six-year hold on the provincial crown was broken by the Victoria team, also had two wins. Salmon Arm dumped Cranbrook 35-22 in the opener of the four-day tournament but needed a strong second half to beat Prince of Wales of Vancouver 25-17.

New Westminster looked strong in beating Prince Rupert 42-19 and Immaculata 34-16, while Oak Bay got two strong performances from Joanne Van Schaik to beat St. Patrick's of Vancouver 22-10 and Abbotsford 30-18. Miss Van Schaik scored 14 points against St. Patrick's and 17 against Abbotsford.

In other games, Abbotsford edged Prince George 23-21, Prince of Wales trounced North Delta 26-6, and Penticton downed Semiahmo 41-27.

Immaculata's 13 points were the only ones in the first half, but they were enough to lead at the end of the first period. The second half was a different story, as the home team pulled away to a 13-point lead by the end of the game.

BRONCOS CLINCH TITLE

Bucks End Home Record In A Familiar Fashion

Kelowna Buckaroos ended their 33-game B.C. Junior Hockey League home schedule the same way they started it, and along the same lines in which the entire season progressed—on a losing note.

The Bucks, who won only six and tied one this season at home, dropped a 6-2 decision to the Interior division champion Penticton Broncos Wednesday before 250 faithful-to-the-end fans.

The Broncos, with the victory, pulled three points ahead of second-place Vernon Essos, assuring them of first place in the Interior, a position they have held for most of the season.

Both Vernon and Penticton have one game remaining in the regular season schedule, with the Essos taking on the Buckaroos in Vernon Friday, and the Broncos meeting Kamloops Rockets Sunday in Kamloops.

Although finishing a dismal fourth, and completing the poorest season ever by a Kelowna hockey club, the Buckaroos will see playoff action, meeting the Broncos in a best-of-seven BCJHL quarter-final series starting Tuesday in Penticton.

The second game of the series will be in Kelowna Wednesday, the third in Penticton March 26, and the fourth back in the Memorial Arena March 27. The fifth, sixth, and seventh, if necessary, will be played alternately on the same days the following week.

In Wednesday's contest, the Broncos overpowered the Buckaroos in the first period, outdipsy-doodling around two Bronco defenders and flipping the puck past a surprised McLellan.

Both clubs had good chances early in the third period, which saw some wide-open play, but both goaltenders were equal to the occasion, until 6:30 of the frame, when the Broncos' top scorers, Mercredi and Gavey Donaldson, broke in on one Kelowna defenceman and gave Penticton a 4-2 lead with Donaldson getting the marker.

Chad Campbell picked up a loose puck in front of MacCrimmon two minutes later, and drove a low screen shot past the Kelowna netminder to all but put the game in the bag for the league champions. Dan Ashman closed out the scoring at 18:17 of the frame.

Midway through the third period, the Broncos rightwinger Turk slid into the Kelowna goalpost, and was taken off on a stretcher, with last reports having him sidelined with a broken rib.

MacCrimmon faced 40 Penticton shots in the game, while the Broncos Dave McClelland handed 21 of 23 Kelowna shots.

Buckaroo Bits: The Kelowna Buck-Booster Club will be giving away five team awards at the game.

Brian Matlock got Kelowna's first goal at 4:38 of the middle frame, letting go a quick shot from a face-off to the right of Bronco goaltender Dave McClelland. Tom Gawletz was sitting in the penalty box.

The Bucks made it 3-2 midway through the period, with Charlie Huck making one of the prettiest plays of the night, the Buckaroos' game against Penticton March 27 in Kelowna. Doug Manchak has already assured himself of at least one award, having a 16-point lead in the team's scoring race.

The other four awards are for the rookie of the year, best defenceman, most valuable player, and most popular player of the year. Ron Andruff is sitting out a three-game suspension given by manager-coach Wayne North for violating a curfew after Saturday's game against Victoria.

Duguid and Crew Dislike The Ice

MEGEVE, France (CP) — Although they led the field moving into today's fifth round of the seven-draw World curling championship, Canada's curlers still were not happy with the tricky ice here.

Don Duguid's Winnipeg rink took sole possession of first place Wednesday night with an easy 9-4 win against Pierre Boan of France. The victory left Duguid, defending World champion, with a perfect 4-0 win-loss record.

Today's fifth round was scheduled for 2:30 p.m. (8:30 a.m. EST), with the sixth draw four hours later.

Canada faced Sweden's Bjell Gredmark in the early draw. Scotland's Jimmy Sanderson met the United States foursome of Dale Dalziel from Edmore, N.D., Germany's Manfred Raederer took on Cesare Canepa of Switzerland, and Norway's Knut Bjaanas met Boan.

Most rinks here have found the keen ice too fast. The Canadians and Americans claim it is faster than any they have played on at home.

ICE IS TRICKY Duguid said the tricky ice makes it easy for a team to lose the title by dropping a playoff game, even if the rink goes through the regulation seven rounds undefeated.

The schedule calls for the first four finishers to meet in playoffs Friday night. Winners of those two games hook up in the final 24 hours later.

Grouped behind Canada in the standings were Scotland with three wins and a loss while the U.S., Sweden and France had 2-2 marks. Norway, Germany and Switzerland have each one win and three losses.

Rod Hunter, third on the Winnipeg rink, agreed with his skip's assessment of the ice. "The ice is still too tricky," Hunter said. "You can bury your rocks, but not exactly where you want to."

"One stroke of the broom can make a difference of up to two feet on this ice. You won't play for inches on it."

HAD BAD START Duguid, forced into an extra end to defeat Norway in the afternoon round 7-6, thought he was off to the same kind of start against Boan.

The French skip moved into a 2-0 lead after the first end, causing Duguid to mutter: "I don't like the trend," and later, "Take me out of here."

However, when his front end caught fire, the Winnipeg crew picked up two in the third, a pair in the fifth, a single in the seventh and stole two in the eighth and one in the ninth. A 12th-end single rounded out the scoring.

Cudworth Getting Interest As National Leaguers Shine

By THE CANADIAN PRESS Cudworth, Sask., hasn't rated much interest nationally in a long time—if ever.

But two of that prairie community's native sons have been keeping it prominent in recent months, particularly around the National Hockey League centres.

Orland Kurtenbach has been most noticeable as the hard-nosed centre and captain of Vancouver Canucks.

But Gerry Ehman has been getting his licks in as one of the steadier workhorses for the lowly California Golden Seals.

The 38-year-old right winger, considered washed up by most NHL clubs before expansion, fired two goals Wednesday night as the Seals delivered Pittsburgh Penguins' playoff hopes a blow with a 5-2 win at Oakland.

GOAL TOTAL 15 The goals were Nos. 14 and 15 for the former Flin Flon, Man., junior who never quite caught on until the Seals picked him up from Toronto Maple Leafs in a trade on Oct. 3, 1967.

Ehman has been steady but unspectacular in his four seasons with California.

The victory Wednesday snapped a nine-game winless streak for the Seals and kept the Penguins five points behind Philadelphia Flyers in their fight for the fourth and last playoff spot.

The Penguins' scored first on Ron Schock's 13th of the season at 1:32 of the first period. But Seals' goals by Tony Featherstone and Gary Croteau 15 seconds apart in the second period moved them ahead to stay.

Ehman notched his first 16 seconds into the final period for the winner, Gary Jarrett fired the insurance marker at 12:20 and Ehman completed the California scoring with less than two minutes to go.

Japanese Adjust To Weather And Have To Use Own Balls

ASA GRANDE, Ariz. (AP) Japan's Lotte Orions adjusted to the weather in Arizona where they play against States major league teams, but they found they were off using their own baseballs.

The Orions are one of two teams from Tokyo doing their training in the U.S. this year. The other is the Giants in Florida.

The used National League balls in its opening game of spring, but found them justly larger. Piteer Masanaka explained the seams on Japanese variety stand a little higher.

Order for the visiting hero to work with the same balls they will use when league season opens in the U.S. teams gave permission for them to use them on the spring games.

Wataru Nonin said an interpreter that this has been very good for his team.

arm Welcome of Likely MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Minnesota Twins back in the Florida sun, a Metropolitan Stadium crew is working feverishly to provide them with arm homecoming.

The Twins opened their 1971 baseball season against Milwaukee at home April 6, their first of a Minnesota opener and only 19 days away.

Only Wednesday, huge crowds and plows scraped a foot layer of snow from the playing field. A thick ice layer was left.

Americans Stop Aces

By THE CANADIAN PRESS Rochester Americans prevented Quebec from grabbing a share of first place in the American Hockey League's East Division when they defeated the Aces 4-2 Wednesday night.

In other action, Hershey Bears beat Providence Reds 4-2 and Cleveland Barons dumped Springfield Kings 4-1.

The loss left the Aces two points back of front-running Montreal Voyageurs who have 62, Providence, with 58, are two points in front of Springfield.

At Quebec Don Blackburn fired a pair of goals to pace the Americans, Jack Stanfield and Brent Taylor got the other Rochester goals. Bob Hurlburt and Dennis Giannini scored for Quebec.

Kasko Located Holes Will Fill Them Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Manager Eddie Kasko has located some holes in his Boston Red Sox and he's going to start darning them today.

Boston's fifth straight exhibition baseball loss—this one an 8-2 one-sided affair to Houston Astros—drained the mild-mannered Kasko of his last bit of patience Wednesday.

"I didn't see a single encouraging note all day," he said disgustedly afterwards. "I think it's time to shake them up a little."

Kasko planned a squad meeting for the Sox today.

So far, the main thing the Sox have been doing is exasperating their boss, Wednesday, it was pitcher Gary Peters' turn. He was rapped for eight hits and runs in five innings by the Astros, who ran their spring record to 8-4.

Denis Menke cracked three hits and Cesar Cedeno drove in three runs for Houston.

... three-run homer

to get encouraging performances from two unheralded rookies.

DOUBLE WINS IT

Bob Darwin's eighth-inning double drove in the Dodgers' winning run in a 5-4 decision over Washington Senators. Darwin, a former pitcher who has switched to the outfield this season, increased his spring batting average to .538.

Pat Osburn, who had never pitched an inning of professional baseball before this spring, blanked Detroit for five innings as Cincinnati downed the Tigers 5-1. Osburn now has allowed one earned run in 14 innings.

Minnesota Twins absorbed a 10-1 defeat from Baltimore Orioles but got some good news off the field when outfielder Tony Oliva signed a two-year contract for between $90,000 and $95,000 this season.

Bobby Grich drove in five runs for the Orioles with a pair of doubles and an infield out. Montreal Expos won their fourth straight exhibition game and third in a row against Atlanta, battering the Braves 17-5. Mack Jones' three-run homer highlighted a seven-run second inning and Ron Fairly touched off a five-run seventh with another homer for the Expos.

Tony LaRussa broke a 2-2 tie with three-run homer and drove in another run with a triple, leading Oakland Athletics 8-3 over Cleveland Indians.

PADRES BEAT CUBS

Dave Campbell's ninth inning single drove in the deciding run in San Diego Padres' 8-7 victory over Chicago Cubs.

Jose Cruz doubled home the winning run for St. Louis in the ninth as the Cardinals edged Philadelphia Phillies 4-3.

Milwaukee Brewers topped San Francisco Giants 10-9 in a free-swinging game that produced 32 hits, 16 for each team. Darrell Porter had a two-run homer for the Brewers, who got 12 of their hits off Gaylord Perry in the first seven innings.

Gary Gentry pitched five innings of one-hit ball and Cleon Jones, Tim Lincecum, Bob Aspromonte and Ken Boswell chipped in with two hits apiece, leading New York Mets to a 6-1 decision over Kansas City Royals.

REMEMBER WHEN . . .

Goalie Jacques Plante of the Montreal Canadiens won the Vezina Trophy for the first time 15 years ago today—in 1956—with only 131 goals scored against him throughout the season. Plante went on to hold the trophy for an unprecedented five seasons, and then win it a sixth time in 1962.

Frazier Well He Says So

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Rumors were that Joe Frazier had died or was seriously ill, but the heavyweight champ wanted everyone to know neither was true.

"Man, everything's all right. Everything's cool," Frazier said Wednesday from his hospital room in a telephone conversation to comedian Joey Bishop. The conversation was being taped for NBC's Tonight show on television.

Bishop, host of the show, in the absence of ailing Johnny Carson, hoped to dispel the rumors and arranged for the phone call to Frazier.

Bishop asked Frazier about stories saying the fighter was very ill that he would not fight again, and that he was due for a long stay in St. Luke's Hospital.

"They got me scared to walk the street," said Frazier. "I've got a friendly cold."

Bishop asked Frazier if he was going to continue fighting and would have a rematch with Ali.

"If he wants to fight me again, I'll give him a shot," Frazier replied.

At a news briefing Wednesday, Dr. James Giuffre said of Frazier's health and the possible need to quit boxing: "Physically I see no reason for his retirement."

Dr. Giuffre said Frazier's appetite had improved and he was no longer being fed intravenously as he was Tuesday afternoon when admitted to the hospital for "blood studies."

Knights Tie CHL Record

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Omaha Knights tied the Central Hockey League record for most points in a season Wednesday night by whipping Dallas Black Hawks 5-1.

The Knights, who have already clinched the regular season title, now have 97 points, tying the record set by the 1963-64 Omaha team. The Knights have three games remaining in which to set the record.

The victory over Dallas also ran Omaha's unbeaten home string to 20 games.
